HOUSE GUTTED BY FIRE—The home of Bobby Fike, 1505 Sycamore, was gutted by fire this morning at 8:06 p.m. The fire appeared to originate in the east end of the home, but no cause has been determined. Heavy smoke and water damage was sustained throughout the house, and the fire gutted the east end of the home. Firemen remained on the scene throughout the morning.

Resident Criticizes Fire Department

Home Gutted By Fire Early Today

The victim of a house fire early today has charged that the Murray Fire Department failed to answer repeated calls to respond to the fire, and said that legal action may be instituted against the City.

Bobby Fike, 1505 Sycamore, told the Murray Ledger & Times this morning that his wife called the Murray Fire Department three times after the fire started, letting the phone ring three times on each call. Fike continued that his sister-in-law finally drove to Fire Station Number Two and told the firemen about the fire.

The blaze gutted the east end of the house, and water and smoke damage was heavy throughout the structure.

Murray Fire Chief Jackie Cooper defended his department, saying that he, as well as several other staff members, were at various telephones throughout the building when Mrs. Fike said she called, and Cooper and other staff members maintained that the telephone did not ring.

At approximately the same time that Mrs. Fike's sister reached Station Two, a next door neighbor of the Fikes called the fire department downtown, and reached Chief Cooper. Cooper said that the neighbor's call was the first to ring the fire phone at City Hall this morning.

Mayor John Scott, asked for a comment this morning, said he is going to look into the matter, but said that a telephone company test showed the fire phones to be working from all parts of the city. "All I can say is she (Mrs. Fike) probably got a wrong number."

Mrs. Fike, and her sister, who was also at the house at the time of the fire, said that the sister read the number out of the front of the telephone book while Mrs. Fike dialed the number.

Twenty-five men and three trucks answered the alarm. No cause has been determined at this time for the fire.

Carroll Does Not Rule Out Support In Lt. Gov.'s Race

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — While Gov. Julian Carroll maintains he will not slate a candidate in the lieutenant governor's race next year, he has not ruled out private support should a friend run for the office.

Carroll said Wednesday he'd had a telephone conversation with Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach, who hasn't formally declared his candidacy for lieutenant governor but is expected to do so.

A rift between Carroll and Hollenbach developed more than a year ago when the county judge indicated he might run against Carroll for governor, and had talks with former state Democratic chairman J.R. Miller, a political opponent of Carroll's at the time.

On Tuesday, Carroll said, "He called and I talked to him. He knows that we have not been close and of course I'm sure he is concerned because he knows full well that this past year or more he's not made my task any easier by jumping in and out of races."

"Obviously he is concerned about my attitude toward him," Carroll said. "But I did tell him that we have not put ourselves in opposition to anyone."

"In fact, we have not deviated from our position that we do not intend to slate a candidate in the lieutenant governor's race," he said.

But Carroll has said he reserves the right to privately support a friend of his should one seek the office.

"If I had a great deal of confidence in him, certainly no one would ever expect me not to say something nice about him to the rest of my friends," the governor said.

Former Greenup legislator Terry McBrayer, a close friend of Carroll's and the governor's chief executive officer, said he thought Carroll might take a stand in the lieutenant governor's race if necessary.

"If he thought that somebody was taking a strong lead in the race who he didn't think he could work with or who wouldn't necessarily be good for his administration, he might lean toward a candidate who would be more favorable to him," McBrayer said.

McBrayer, who announced Oct. 16 he was giving up the race for lieutenant governor because of high blood pressure and a high cholesterol count, said his health has improved since then, but "not to the point of getting into the race — I really do not contemplate that at all."

Corps Not Expected To Act Before Next Week On TVA's Favorable Terminal Report

A spokesman has said the Army Corps of Engineers probably will not act before next week on a Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) study concerning a proposed barge terminal on Kentucky Lake.

The TVA report on its evaluation of the proposed terminal site has been sent to the corps'

Nashville, Tenn., District office.

The Hutson Chemical Co. proposed 19 months ago to construct the terminal at the Anderson Creek Embayment near Murray on the west side of the lake.

The Calloway Farm Bureau endorsed the proposal and the Murray Chamber of Commerce also favored it, saying the terminal would give Calloway County greater industrial potential.

The TVA study was made after the proposal drew objections from two federal agencies, stirring controversy that led to a public hearing at Murray in April 1973.

The Environmental Protection Agency contended the terminal would disturb water recreation and increase the industrial potential of an area where industrial growth might not be desirable.

The U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sports, Fisheries and Wildlife said the facility would mar the scenery, destroy the habitat of fish and wildlife and lead to industrialization.

TVA endorsed the project at the 1973 hearing, and Kentucky's Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Department approved it later with minor changes.

The objections by the two U.S. agencies were made conditional on the TVA study, which covered the Anderson Creek site and six other possible locations on Kentucky Lake, Lake Barkley and on the Tennessee River near Paducah.

A TVA official declined to comment on the study report.

Jury Returns Guilty Verdict For Four Cover-Up Defendants

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court jury has concluded another chapter in the Watergate story by convicting three of Richard M. Nixon's most powerful aides of conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

Found guilty of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury were former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, and ex-White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

Also convicted of conspiracy was former Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian.

The jury acquitted Kenneth W. Parkinson, a Washington attorney who represented the Nixon re-election committee, of conspiracy and obstruction of justice.

The four men convicted were expected to seek reversal of the decision in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica set no date for sentencing. The four convicted men remained free on personal recognizance.

Asked for his reaction to the verdict, Ehrlichman said, "It changes nothing insofar as my basic feeling, and it's a deep-seated feeling, of innocence in regard to the charges in this case."

Ehrlichman said he had instructed his lawyers to appeal. Haldeman said, "I know legally and morally I am totally innocent of each of the charges that's been brought here ... I intend to move ahead in the days ahead on the process of appeal."

Mitchell said only that he would appeal. Mardian, who slumped into his seat and held his head in his hands after the verdict was read, slipped out of the courtroom unseen by newsmen.

When Sirica thanked the jurors for their service, Mrs. Mardian leaned forward in her seat among the other defendants' wives, stuck out her tongue and gave a soft but audible raspberry.

For the Parkinsons it was a moment of tearful joy.

"I feel great ... I've always had great faith and hope and it all worked out," said Parkinson, his wife Pamela, and lawyer Jacob Stein at his side.

As Chief Prosecutor James F. Neal left the courtroom he was asked if he was satisfied with the verdict.

"I don't think satisfied is the word — It's one of relief that a long, hard job is over and I can go home."

Mitchell faces a maximum sentence of 25 years in prison and a $37,000 fine. The maximum sentence for Haldeman is 25 years and a $21,000 fine; for Ehrlichman 20 years and a $35,000 fine; for Mardian 5 years and a $10,000 fine.

The verdict read in Sirica's courtroom just before 5 p.m. on New Year's Day 1975, climaxed one of the last major events in the scandal that dominated

Some Jurors Initially Planned To Vote For Acquittal Of Four

WASHINGTON (AP) — For each of the four defendants convicted in the Watergate cover-up trial, there were members of the jury who initially planned to vote for acquittal, but changed their minds during hours of deliberation.

"We weren't in complete agreement on any of them right off the bat," a member of the panel said a few hours after verdicts were returned on the five defendants.

"Some of the jurors had reservations on all of them. They didn't want to convict all of them," the juror said.

"They didn't want to say they're all guilty and let it go at that."

The juror asked to remain anonymous, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica urged the jury members not to talk about the trial even with members of their families.

Despite efforts to seal off the jurors from Watergate news not introduced in evidence, they were aware that former President Richard M. Nixon suffered from a serious phlebitis condition during the trial.

Without saying how or in how much detail, the juror acknowledged learning of Nixon's illness despite three months of sequestration.

Deputy U.S. marshals monitored the jury to discourage any discussion of trial matters throughout the proceeding, which began Oct. 1.

The juror said the panel considered each defendant by talking informally around the oak table in the middle of the deliberating room so each of the nine women and three men could be heard.

Although it became clear in discussions how each juror was thinking of voting, there were formal votes taken only once for each of the counts lodged against the defendants. Many minds were changed, the juror said.

For the juror, the 28 White House tapes introduced into evidence were the most important.

Dear Abby

This "government man" looks like a ringer

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I met a very attractive man at a club and we started dating. When he refused to tell me his last name, I assumed that he was married, but he assures me that he isn't.

Here is his story:
1. He works for the government.
2. He travels a lot.
3. His job is to meet people and get information.
4. When I asked for some identification, he said he didn't carry any, besides, it wouldn't be correct anyway.
5. He is obligated to this job for at least two more years and cannot get married during this time.
6. He is licensed to carry a gun, but does not.
7. He doesn't have an "address," but he does have an answering service.

Abby, if this unbelievable story proves to be true, I would like to continue dating him as he is good company, pleasant and well-mannered. However, if he is lying, I will end the relationship immediately.

How can I find out if he is really employed by the government? And if so, with which agency?

This situation has me stumped. Any information you can give me will be very much appreciated.

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: The F.B.I. and C.I.A. both advise me that all bona fide agents have names which they use in their work. (Some have several. But each agent has credentials in the name he is using.) Since this man refuses to tell you what name he is using, you can consider him a phony. Both departments said that quite a few men tell girls this story to keep from getting involved; however, if they actually impersonate a government agent, they can be prosecuted.

DEAR ABBY: This is to encourage "Flat in N.J.," and all the other flat-chested women who read your column. At 28 years of age, I finally got the courage to have silicone implants performed by a reliable plastic surgeon. Even though I had been married for many years and had children, I always felt inferior and self-conscious due to my flat chest.

The results were thrilling. I wish I had had it done ten years sooner.

FLAT NO MORE

DEAR FLAT: You have more bosom buddies than you know.

DEAR ABBY: I am a schoolteacher who is very tired of being put down. Recently someone called me (and my fellow schoolteachers) "glorified babysitters."

I sat down and calculated exactly what I would earn if I were actually a babysitter.

I have 42 students. If I were to charge 50 cents an hour (which is the very least any babysitter would charge), I would make $21 an hour.

Allowing one hour off for lunch (although teachers seldom get an hour off because they are required to have lunch-supervising duty during their lunch period) I would get $21 times five hours, or $105 a day, times five, or $525 a week. Or on a four-week, 10-month basis, $21,000 per year! Babysitter's fees look awfully good to me.

Eight patients have used the treatment and found it successful, and if results continue to be positive, "someone will have to make up a complex theory to explain it," Dr. Adler said.

Makes "Cookie Castle"

Mrs. Christine Rhodes, 512 South Sixth Street, Murray shows the "Cookie Castle" she made for a centerpiece for her dining room table for the holidays. The cookie castle was shown in the December issue of McCall's magazine and the base of construction board was made for Mrs. Rhodes by Dr. Eugene Schanbacher.

Mrs. Rhodes said she used about six dozen cookies, two pounds gum drops, four ice cream cones, several sticks of peppermint candy, and several red lolly pops. The small red flags mounted on tooth picks on the tops of the castle domes were made by her granddaughter, Christine Hamilton. The special "castle" was placed on the dining room table overlaid with a green cloth under green net.

The Murray woman, a member of the Murray Civic Music Association, the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club and a sixty year member of the First United Methodist Church, said she decided she wanted to see if she could copy the illustration from the magazine and those seeing the castle said it was almost like the magazine picture.

With her for the holidays were her two daughters and families, Mrs. Sarah R. Hinman and three sons, Andy, Charles, and Kelly, of Columbus, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hamilton and children, Christine and Charles Andrew, of Winter Park, Fla. Also joining the group were their sister and aunt, Miss Mayme Whittell.

She can always ask Joe Namath

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please settle a controversy over pantyhose? Should you wear pantyhose with or without panties?

If you should wear panties with pantyhose, should you wear them UNDER or OVER the pantyhose? (Some people wear them both under and over!)

I have asked half a dozen people this question, and everyone has a different answer.

What do you say?

CURIOUS IN SALEM

DEAR CURIOUS: I say that pantyhose—just as their name suggests—provides both panties and hose, so no panties are necessary. Of course they are worn only once and then laundered (just as panties are), so panties are unnecessary.

(P.S. If this answer doesn't satisfy you, ask Joe Namath.)

DEAR ABBY: Don't give me any lectures, please. I know I did wrong, but I can't undo what I already did. Five years ago I had an affair with a married man. (I am also married.) I regret it now, but here is my problem. My sister-in-law keeps bringing up this man's name in every conversation where she can work it in.

Out of the blue she will ask, "Say, have you seen so-and-so lately?" Or she will mention that she saw his wife. Then she watches me closely for some kind of reaction, hoping to catch me off guard.

What can I do when she does this? I have the strangest feeling that she knows about me and this man.

Should I have it out with her and ask her why she is always bringing up his name? I would like to know if she really knows something or not.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: Don't mention this man's name to your sister-in-law unless you want to risk spilling the beans. When she mentions his name, ignore it, and change the subject. She probably knows nothing, and your guilty conscience is working overtime.

DEAR ABBY: We are the natural parents of three happy, healthy children, ages five, six and eight. We are now planning to adopt a three or four-year-old orphan girl from Korea or Vietnam.

Our problem is my mother. She is adamantly opposed to our interracial adoption. She said: Your daughter will not be my granddaughter! For me, she will not exist. If you adopt a brown, slant-eyed child, for me, none of you will exist. I will pretend you have all been killed in a plane crash!

Mom lives 1500 miles from us, but she's always been a loving mother and grandmother. Abby, if she were happy with her decision never to see us again, it would be one thing, but Dad and other relatives report that she is miserable about it. She refuses to talk with a minister or psychiatrist. She says, "I'm too old to change." (She is 55.)

We have considered our decision carefully, and feel that this adoption is "right" for us and our children. I love my mother and hate to see her unhappy. Have you any suggestions?

DISTRESSED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Let your mother know that you are deeply sorry about her decision. Tell her that your mind is made up, and if she changes hers, you would be glad to see her.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

The Sugar Price Ripoff

A FEW MONTHS ago when sugar prices were well on their way toward the sky, a lot of people associated with the commodities markets assured us that the price rise was justified because it resulted from a tremendous increase in sugar consumption, especially in the developing nations of the world.

Skepticism about that explanation was widespread, and especially so among housewives who visited the grocery stores and saw the prices being marked up on what appeared to be an almost hourly schedule.

Now that the sugar price bubble seems to have been pricked at least somewhat, some more sensible explanations of what was going are coming to the fore.

Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis has issued what The Wall Street Journal describes as a "comprehensive review" of sugar industry trends over the last 23 years. It was prepared by the brokerage house's sugar analyst, Alice J. Bradie.

The patterns of supply, deliveries and prices have been highly unusual, leading us to believe that in all probability there hasn't been a sugar shortage," she writes.

She believes the world sugar price rise was "principally fueled by speculation." The producing nations "began to inventory sugar against anticipated higher prices, and this 'prophecy,' which was partly self-fulfilling, ultimately materialized."

But the trade outsmarted itself, she indicates, because meanwhile "there has been a big bulge domestically in the middle of the sugar-distribution pipeline, which extends from major refiners at one end to industrial and consumer users at the other." However, consumer resistance has broken the price bulge finally and it is likely the "beginning of world sugar liquidation is at hand." Miss Bradie expects sugar to be selling for 15 to 25 cents a pound by the end of 1975.

SO WHERE ARE all those "experts" who told us a couple of months ago the demand was real and the price increases were justified?

Moral To This Little Story Is Keep Your Money At Home

By M. C. Garrott

Bob Perry, 305 South 8th Street and who is the substitute teacher of our Sunday School class at First Baptist, handed me this one to chew on the other day.

Back in 1933 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt closed all of the banks because of the depressed economy at the time, there was a young salesman headquartered in Morganfield. He would stay at the hotel during the week and make his calls in the nearby towns each day.

One Sunday night, he checked in, and, after registering, handed the lady who ran the hotel, Mrs. Cornelia Rose, a $100 bill. He asked her to put it in the safe and keep it for him until he checked out on Friday night. She put it in an envelope and then in the safe.

The next day, Monday, Mrs. Rose needed some money to get the groceries needed for her hotel's dining room, but the banks were closed. Thinking she would borrow the young salesman's $100 until some of her guests and boarders paid their bills, she took the bill from the safe and went to the store.

There she got the groceries she needed, and paid the groceryman, Tom Waggoner, with the $100 bill. He couldn't make change, and went next door to the Mason Waller drug store to get Red Mason to change it for him, and he did.

Mason now has the young salesman's $100 bill.

Now, Mason's uncle lived at the hotel all the time, so he took the $100 bill across the court square to the hotel and gave it to Mrs. Rose as payment on his uncle's account. Not knowing it was the same bill with which she had purchased her groceries but, nevertheless, greatly appreciative of getting such a bill, she promptly put it in an envelope to hold for the young salesman.

On Friday night he came in to check out as usual, and asked for his $100 bill. Mrs. Rose went to the safe, took out the envelope and handed it to him.

Then, to her astonishment, he took it out, struck a match and burned it, laughingly telling her it was counterfeit.

Now, according to Bob, if Mrs. Rose had gone to another town to trade for her groceries, someone would have lost $100, but as it turned out everyone came out in great shape. She got her groceries, and Red Waller's uncle got his room and meals bill paid. Even so, it seems to me like somebody got hooked.

The times in which we are living sort of remind me of the story of the hen.

She is ambitious. Hard work means nothing to her. She just keeps on digging worms and laying eggs, regardless of what the business prognosticators say about the outlook of her product.

If the ground is hard, she scratches harder. If it is dry, she digs deeper. If it is wet, she digs where it is dry. If she hits a rock, she digs around it. When she gets a few more hours of daylight, she lays a few more eggs and digs a few hours longer. But she always digs up a few more worms and converts them into hard-shelled profits.

Our compliments to Paul Maggard and the folks at Jerry's Restaurant for turning out their big electric sign out front in compliance with the request of Bill Barker and the Murray Electric System for a voluntary cutback in the use of electrical energy.

Now that TVA is getting coal again and the energy shortage is somewhat averted, Paul has turned his sign back on. In his business, you almost have to have a sign at night or hungry travelers will pass you by, thinking you are closed.

The important point, however, is that he was willing to take that chance if it was necessary.

It seems to me that a lot more of this could be done. As you drive through town after dark you can see sign after sign burning brightly, some of them huge ones, even though the business establishment it advertises is closed for the night. That seems wasteful, especially in times like these.

Remember Noah and how the people laughed at him and taunted him as he built the ark? Then when it started to rain and the waters started rising and covering the earth, these same people who had laughed at him and his warnings were banging on the doors of the ark trying to get in.

It kind of makes you think.

Funny Funny World

A brother and a sister in Nyeri, Kenya could not decide how to divide a farm which was bequeathed to them by their father. The problem finally reached President Jomo Kenyatta who thought for a moment and said, "Let the sister divide the farm into equal parcels and then let the brother take first choice."

Scabies On Increase

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

The itch mite, Sarcoptes scabiei, which causes scabies may be again on the prowl.

According to Samuel Bean, M.D., Department of Dermatology, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, writing recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association, epidemics occur at intervals of about 15 years. A progressive increase in this disease is taking place in much of the world, though relatively fewer cases are being seen in the United States and Canada.

Scabies is not rare in this country but is endemic (some cases being present all the time), though the disease is sufficiently infrequent to be difficult to diagnose. Such is true if the signs and symptoms are unusual and if the physician is not alert and suspicious that scabies may be the cause of trouble.

The itch mite attacks all ages. The characteristic lesion is a burrow produced by the gravid female, which deposits her eggs in the skin. Next may come papules (bumps), vesicles (blisters), pustules (vesicles with pus), and itching (which leads to excoriations), followed by crusting, and possible secondary infection. Itching and scratching spread the mites to new areas of the skin.

These changes may be more pronounced in an infant because of the tenderness of its skin.

The disease is highly contagious and spreads by contact or through clothing that is contaminated. Several members of a family may have the disease at the same time. It is possible for scabies to be transferred from one person to another from a toilet seat.

Sulfur ointment used to be the treatment of choice. A salve with 1 per cent gamma benzene hexachloride is effective and prescribed by Dr. Bean. Secondary infections may be present also and require an antibiotic.

Because scabies may be confused with a number of other skin conditions, it is preferable that such skin eruptions be seen by a physician for diagnosis before trying to treat the disease.

Q. Mrs. S. E. wants to know if "bulk producers," which are sold to help control appetite, have any merit.

A. Yes. These products are usually derivatives of cellulose, which cannot be digested by the human stomach but which help to create considerable volume without a corresponding caloric content — in fact, serving to dilute it. By their ability to take up water, these substances often produce a colloidal or gel mass which gives some satiety. The bulk makes also for slower digestion. Such "bulk producers" have been approved for dietary use by the Food and Drug Administration.

Q. Mrs. E. E. admits a problem in her family about religion and wants to know whether it has any effect on health of children.

A. Your question deals with a complex matter. Evidence is quite clear that children who participate in religious training and who attend church functions are less likely to use drugs, including alcohol. The basic issue is to have a child learn the value of love and respect of self and others. The home and the church are two places in which these values may be instilled into a child's life. Such values may influence attitudes toward education and career choices and assist in developing an integrated, happy, effective life.

Q. Mrs. A. A. asks for an explanation of "tetany."

A. Tetany is due to the abnormal metabolism of calcium. The condition consists of a set of symptoms, including sharp flexion of the ankle and wrist joints (carpopedal spasm), cramps, muscle twitchings, and even convulsions.

Improvements In Managing Diabetes

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Researchers are hopeful that significant advances are imminent in managing diabetes mellitus (sugar diabetes) and its complications.

This disease affects up to 6 million Americans, including about 3/4 million juveniles, and is increasing at a rate of one a year. Sugar diabetes and its complications cost the nation about $4.5 billion annually in loss of work and in medical bills.

A tendency to diabetes mellitus is inherited. Genetic counseling is indicated when marriage of diabetics, or their close relatives is contemplated. The fundamental defect appears to be fewer than normal cells in the diencephalon, or inner brain, a portion of which causes certain cells of the pancreas (islands of Langerhans) to secrete insulin. Efforts to transplant the pancreas from one person to another to relieve diabetes mellitus have not proved feasible.

However, a method has been developed to separate out the insulin-producing cells of the pancreas from fetuses and transfer the cells into a diabetic monkey.

Some of the cells attach themselves in the liver and produce insulin, lowering the blood sugar in the monkeys. The cells die out after a period of time, and additional transfers of cells have to be made. This procedure may prove useful later in humans.

Diabetes mellitus has a tendency to cause early arteriosclerosis, often leading, in the case of the kidneys, to their failure. Kidney transplants have been more successful, especially if the kidney is given by a relative.

Diabetes mellitus is now the greatest cause of new cases of blindness; however, aspirin is being tested to lower the stickiness of blood platelets to lessen the occlusion of retinal arteries of the eye, a condition which impairs eyesight.

Eye surgery to wash out the blood which collects in the eye from a ruptured blood vessel, as sometimes occurs in diabetics, often restores vision.

Improvements have been made in adjusting the diet, exercise, use of oral drugs, and appropriate amounts of insulin, the latter keeping the blood sugar more nearly normal and thereby lessening arteriosclerosis in the diabetic.

Q. My 14-year-old son eats one to two eggs every morning for breakfast. Since egg yolk is high in cholesterol, is his health being endangered by eating so many eggs?

A. Available evidence indicates that even the young teenager's cholesterol level rises from a high fat intake. It is during the adolescent years that the high cholesterol levels of most adults have their beginning. Your son should eat eggs in moderation, but not daily.

Purcell Wins Sugar Bowl Tennis Tournery

Mel Purcell of Murray won the championship in the 16 and under division of the Sugar Bowl Tennis Classic in New Orleans earlier this week.

Purcell, a sophomore at Murray High School, will be returning to Murray Saturday.

In addition to his win in the singles division, Purcell also copped the doubles crown as he combined with Chad Foster of Lafayette, La.

It was rather easy for Purcell through the first three rounds of the singles as he won all of his matches in straight sets.

The opening round found To Defend Crowns

DALLAS (AP) — Owen Davidson and Billie Jean King will begin defense of their International Mixed Doubles crown Thursday night in a tournament worth $20,000 to the winners.

They will meet Andrew Pattison and Francoise Durr in the second match of the evening, preceded by a doubles match sending Cliff Drysdale and Virginia Wade against and the brother-sister combo of Cliff Richey and Nancy Gunter.

Play will continue through Sunday when the consolation final and the championship match will be held at Moody Coliseum.

GENERAL LONDON — The man who broke the four-minute-mile barrier is now Sir Roger Bannister, following a session Wednesday in which he was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II.

DALLAS (AP) — An unflappable freshman wingback and a senior quarterback with a reputation for his poise who got so irate that he threw an official's flag in rage led seventh-ranked Penn State to a 41-20 Cotton Bowl victory over Baylor New Year's Day.

The freshman is sensational Jimmy Cefalo, one of the most heavily recruited players in Pennsylvania schoolboy history. Cefalo snagged a 49-yard touchdown pass and ran three yards for another touchdown to trigger a second-half landslide that buried scrappy Baylor, playing in its first Cotton Bowl.

Jimmy reminds me of Doak Walker (former Southern Methodist All-American) the way he always seems to be around the ball," said Penn State Coach

Joe Paterno. "He has great judgment and poise. He's a very unusual young man."

Tom Shuman, the second leading passer in Penn State history, got so mad in the third period that he was asked to apologize to the official by Paterno. That was after umpire Frank Strocchia called back a 64-yard touchdown pass from Shuman to fullback Tom Donchez because of offensive interference.

Shuman picked up the official's flag and threw it and promptly was tagged with an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty. The incident happened in the third period with Penn State ahead 10-7.

"I was very disappointed in that and I was upset with him (Shuman)," said Paterno. "I told him to apologize to the referee. It was a deliberate attempt to embarrass the official."

"I apologized but I was pretty upset," said Shuman. "He (the official) said he was sorry, it was too late to take it back."

Shuman said of his key third quarter strike to Cefalo: "I saw a man-for-man defense and called an audible for Jimmy to streak down the sideline and he got behind his man."

Penn State then crushed the 12th-rated Bears with a 24-point fourth quarter. Cefalo ran three yards for a score, Chris Bahr kicked a 33-yard field goal, Shuman ran two yards for a touchdown and Joe Jackson returned a desperation onside kick 50 yards for a score. It was the highest point output in Cotton Bowl history.

Shuman, named the most valuable offensive player, completed 10 of 20 passes for 226 yards, a school record for a bowl.

Baylor, champions of the Southwest Conference for the first time in 50 years, led 7-3 at halftime on Steve Baird's four-yard touchdown run. Bahr kicked a 25-yard field goal for the favored Nittany Lions just before the intermission.

Donchez scored on a one-yard run before the controversial penalty that seemed to awaken the Nittany Lions, who won their seventh bowl game in nine tries under Paterno.

Pardee To Sign Pact To Direct Chicago Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Pardee will sign a multiyear contract with the Chicago Bears Friday, hoping to bring the Bears back to prominence in the National Football League.

Pardee, hired as head coach Tuesday by Bears' General Manager Jim Finks, said the subject of staff has been discussed with Finks but no firm plans were made.

"I haven't contacted anyone yet," Pardee said. "Jim will let me work with people I want. Certainly, I'll consult him and we'll work on putting a staff together. I'll select people and tell Jim who I want and he'll help get them."

Pardee, 38, was general manager and coach of the Florida Blazers of the World Football League. The Blazers didn't get a paycheck from the club for the final months. But despite that, Pardee spurred his team to a 14-6 record and missed up setting the Birmingham Americans 22-21 for the 1974 league

Parseghian Goes Out In Style, Irish Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
MIAMI (AP) — "I want you to go out there and win — win not for me but for yourselves," a somber Coach Ara Parseghian told the muscled giants of his Notre Dame football team in a soft-toned and measured locker room address.

"You have won like men and lost like men. All I ask is that you play another one like men. You owe me nothing. You owe one to yourselves."

Some of them tear-eyed, some grim, all highly charged, the Fighting Irish responded with a 13-11 Orange Bowl victory over previously unbeaten Alabama Wednesday night that added a glowing chapter to the university's long and proud tradition.

It wasn't a corny, syrupy scene — full of "Win for the Gipper" histrionics — but it served its purpose.

"Coach didn't give us any of that Rockne and Gipper stuff," said halfback Al Samuel, whose ripping runs contributed mightily to the upset victory.

"There was something superstitious, unreal about the way we lost to Southern California in our last game. We had to show the country we were not as bad as we looked."

Notre Dame got off to a 24-0 lead against Southern California, led 24-0 at the half and then seemingly fell apart, losing finally 55-24 after giving up 35 points in the third period.

Afterward, Parseghian, a dark-eyed Armenian of Presbyterian faith in a Catholic stronghold, announced his resignation after 11 years as Notre Dame coach, confessing that he was weary from escalating pressures.

Notre Dame entered the game an 11½-point underdog, its luster tarnished by the USC debacle and its pride jabbed by reports — strongly denied and never substantiated — that the team was rent with decension and racial problems.

The highly charged men of South Bend applied the pressure quickly to Alabama's imposing squad, which was bidding for a possible national championship.

The hard-hitting Irish shook Alabama's Willie Shelby loose from the ball midway of the first period and drove 16 yards on five plays. Wayne Bullock plunging over from the four.

In the second period, while their swarming defense kept Alabama at bay, the Irish marched 77 yards to a second score, sophomore Mark McLane leading the push and scoring from the nine. Dave Reeve missed his second conversion try, and Notre Dame led 13-0.

A fumble recovery by Alan Pizzitola gave Alabama a break late in the second period but, stopped cold at the four, the Tide had to settle for a 21-yard field goal by Danny Ridgway.

That's the way the game played — through the tugging and tearing of the third quarter when Notre Dame failed to make a first down. But Alabama struck dramatically on a 48-yard touchdown pass play, Richard Todd to Russ Schanmun. Todd then hit George Pugh for a lunging two-point conversion to cut the score to 13-11 with 3 minutes 13 seconds left to play.

Alabama's freshly inspired boys in red were moving downfield for a possible winning touchdown when Notre Dame's Reggie Barnett intercepted a Todd pass with 68 seconds to play. That did it.

Steve Sloan Says He's Leaving Vandy, Maybe

NASHVILLE (AP) — Steve Sloan's off-again, on-again decision to leave Vanderbilt for Texas Tech has been linked to rumors he is Paul "Bear" Bryant's heir apparent at Alabama.

"The stigma of Alabama" has been one of the major obstacles he has faced during his two years as Vanderbilt's football coach, Sloan said Wednesday.

Sloan revealed Monday he was considering Texas Tech's offer to succeed Jim Carlen who has departed to South Carolina. The announcement came shortly after the Commodores tied Tech 6-6 in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta.

After hours of seclusion at his home, Sloan emerged late Tuesday to say he was staying at Vanderbilt. He said he had made the decision after prayer and discussion with his wife, Brenda.

But Wednesday, Sloan said he had changed his mind. He was accepting the Texas Tech post, he said.

Sloan, an All-American quarterback at Alabama before playing two years for the Atlanta Falcons, is widely considered to be Bryant's successor at Tuscaloosa.

And the man who gave Vanderbilt's floundering football program respect in just two years said "innuendoes and the stigma of the Alabama thing have reached a point that it is detrimental to the Vanderbilt football program."

"I am weary of working against it all the time," Sloan said. "Just about every boy I have talked to about coming to Vanderbilt has asked me if I play to stay here the next four years, or if I am going to go to Alabama. Other coaches use this against me in recruiting. It is an obstacle to Vanderbilt's progress that will be removed by my leaving."

Dr. Rob Roy Purdy, Vanderbilt's senior vice chancellor and chairman of the athletic committee, shortly after Sloan's turnaround, revealed a conversation he had with the Alabama coach at the National Football Hall of Fame dinner in New York last month.

Purdy said he thanked Bryant for his help in getting Sloan to come to Vanderbilt two years ago.

"Then in a lighter vein, I wondered if he could offer some advice as to how we might keep him," Purdy said.

"Coach Bryant then said, 'Well, you know, of course, one of these days I'll be coming up there to get him... You may have him one more year, then if I have anything to do with it, I'm coming after him.'"

Sloan, asked how a move to Texas Tech would help remove the "Alabama stigma," said:

"Well, I feel like if I stay here at Vanderbilt and the Alabama job is offered me, I probably would leave. I would have to say that to a recruit. If I am out there in Lugbbock, I just don't know. If I get out there and like the country and everything, why I might not leave."

Ole Miss Reject Keys Nebraska Bowl Victory

By AUSTIN WILSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A slender Ole Miss reject made the game-saving tackle credited with turning defeat into a 13-10 victory for the University of Nebraska over Florida in the Sugar Bowl.

Florida, holding a 10-0 lead, was playing fourth and goal at the Nebraska one in the third quarter of the New Year's Eve contest.

Here's the way cornerback Jim Burrow described the play:

"I was out covering Lee McGriff man-to-man. We were in our goal line defense and I was supposed to ignore the pass and play the pitch, if the receiver blocked."

"It all happened so fast, I really don't know what happened."

"The quarterback pitched to his halfback, and I went for him."

"I wasn't sure whether he was going inside or outside."

"He faked out, went in, and it seemed like I got to him as he was slipping."

A fired-up Cornhusker offense came on after Burrow's heroics and crunched 99 yards for a touchdown, then pounded out two shorter drives that ended in field goals and victory.

Burrow came out of high school in Amory, Miss., with his heart set on playing for the University of Mississippi. He went out for the Ole Miss team without a scholarship and started in the defensive secondary for the freshman squad.

But Coach Billy Kinard did not give him a scholarship.

"He said I was too small," said the 5-foot-11, 160-pound back.

Celtics Romp Past Portland But Wilkens Isn't Impressed

By The Associated Press
The Boston Celtics managed to beat the slumping Portland Trail Blazers Wednesday night but they failed to impress Portland Coach Lenny Wilkens.

"Boston has been playing great, but I didn't think they played that great tonight," said Wilkens after his Blazers dropped a 108-94 National Basketball Association decision.

"I thought they could have been beaten."

The Celts stormed to a 14-point lead early in the third quarter before Portland retaliated with a 16-6 burst to close to within four points at 68-64. That was as close as the Blazers got, however, as Boston upped its lead to nine points at the close of the period and won going away.

"We were down by four. If we could have gotten a couple of things to happen, the momentum might have switched," said Wilkens. "We didn't help ourselves. We were very lethargic out there."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Atlanta beat Kansas City-Omaha 102-97 and Seattle surprised Washington 123-118 in overtime. In the only American Basketball Association game, San Diego downed Indiana 118-100.

John Havlicek was the big man for Boston with 31 points while Dave Cowens and Don Chaney had 17 apiece. Sidney Wicks scored 23 points and Geoff Petrie 20 for Portland.

The Celtics have won three straight and are now tied with Buffalo for first place in the Atlantic Division. The Blazers have now dropped four straight.

Hawks 102, Kings 97

John Drew scored 22 points and Dean Meminger scored a pair of clutch baskets, one on a controversial goal-tending call against Sam Lacey, as Atlanta won for only the second time in seven games. Nate Archibald had 30 points for Kansas City-Omaha, which dropped a half-game behind first-place Detroit in the Midwest Division.

Sonics 123, Bullets 118, overtime

Spencer Haywood scored 32 points as Seattle ended Washington's four-game win streak. Wes Unseld had 29 points for the Bullets who had four technical calls on them, two to Kevin Porter.

Conquistadors 118, Pacers 110

Lee Davis and Bo Lamar scored 12 points each in the fourth quarter for San Diego. Lamar finished with 27 points and Travis Grant added 25 for the winners while George McGinnis had 32 for Indiana.

Tigers To Face Catfish?

DETROIT (AP) — The first team the New York Yankees will face in 1974 is the Detroit Tigers, meaning Bengal batters may be the first to face the Yankees' new pitcher, Catfish Hunter.

Hunter signed a contract Tuesday with the Yankees, giving him a reported $3.75 million over five years.

Hunter, the 1974 Cy Young Award winner, could be matched against Tiger hurler Mickey Lolich, one of the best-paid Bengals at $100,000 a year.

The Tigers and the Yankees open the four-game series April 11 in New York City.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

FULLERTON, Calif. — Pete Yoder, head football coach at Fullerton State for three years, resigned Wednesday, citing "personal considerations."

Two-Point Play Gives Trojans Rose Bowl Win

By RON ROACH
AP Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Woody Hayes warned that those who concentrated on the Archie Griffin-Anthony Davis matchup would miss a heckuva football game.

Hayes was right. John McKay said the quarterbacks, not tailbacks Griffin of Ohio State and Davis of Southern Cal, would be the players to watch Wednesday in the 61st Rose Bowl.

McKay was right. Davis, after a strong start, watched the second half from the sidelines with bruised ribs. Griffin also suffered bruised ribs, was held to a long gain of nine yards, netted only 75 yards in 20 carries and twice fumbled inside the Trojan 10.

Pat Haden, Southern Cal's Rhodes Scholar quarterback, threw a 38-yard touchdown pass to split end John McKay, the coach's son, with 2:03 to play, then tossed a two-point conversion pass to Shelton Diggs for the winning points in a 18-17 comeback triumph.

"Pat Haden was very timely in his passing," said Hayes. "He can hit the big play. He hit McKay on the sidelines and then he hit the curl pattern for the conversion and those were the two big plays."

Haden also connected on a nine-yard scoring pass to Jim Obradovich in the fourth quarter.

Coach McKay said the Trojans "were fortunate to win and they (Ohio) were unfortunate to lose" the rubber match of their third straight Rose Bowl meeting. The Trojans won 42-17 in 1973; the Buckeyes won last year 42-21.

Buckeye quarterback Cornelius Greene scrambled for 52 yards on the ground and completed eight of 14 passes for 93 yards. He scored on a three-yard run in the fourth quarter to wipe out a 10-7 Southern Cal lead.

Griffin, meanwhile, failed to gain at least 100 yards for the first time in 23 games. Davis, runner-up in the Heisman balloting, gained 67 yards on 13 carries, all in the first half.

Haden, who connected on 12 of 22 passes for 181 yards, said his touchdown pass to McKay was nothing new. "We've thrown that pass a million times," he said.

The pass-catch combination began in high school, and this was the final college game for them both.

Haden said the Trojans decided to go for two points after a touchdown as soon as Ohio State went ahead by seven, 17-10, on a field goal.

Hayes said that one more first down in the last seconds and the Buckeyes might have pulled it out on a field goal. Tom Skladany's 62-yard field goal attempt on the game's last play fell about six yards short. Earlier Southern Cal's Limeheli kicked a 30-yard field goal, and Ohio State's Tom Klaben booted a 33-yarder. The other touchdowns came on champ Henson's two-yard run and Haden's nine-yard pass to Jim Obradovich.

Yankees Hook Biggest Fish Of Them All, Sign Catfish Hunter

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees pleased Catfish Hunter with the richest contract in baseball history. That was relatively easy compared to the task which now faces Hunter — satisfying the toughest sell in the major leagues, the New York fans and the New York media.

If Hunter is successful, New York can be very friendly to a country boy from Hertford, N.C. But if he fails — and failure is judged by steeper standards here than anywhere else, particularly when you're paid as much as Hunter will be — New York can be a tough place to live. Even if you have a contract worth $3.75 million over five years.

If Hunter thought he had it rough dealing with his former boss, Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, he might think again after enduring the ever-present media and thousands of victory-hungry fans in New York who won't be kind if he doesn't win fast and often.

That's the kind of pressure that might even make a fellow long for Oakland's semi-obscure, a livable wage of $100,000 a year and an off-season of relaxing with his family and tracking down the deer.

The pressure got to Mickey Mantle, a Hall of Famer from a small town in Oklahoma, who turned sullen and inward for a time because he couldn't understand the curious press or the fickle fan.

The Yankees evidently think their gamble is a good investment, that with Hunter on the mound they will realize once again the great days of so many previous seasons.

On a team like Cincinnati, with bona fide superstars such as Johnny Bench, Pete Rose, Tony Perez and Joe Morgan, tossing in a Catfish Hunter would likely cause greater problems to a team's salary structure than to the Yankees, who aren't believed to have that type of super talent on their present club.

That's one reason why the Yankees were able to stay with the bidding for Hunter when it crept up toward $4 million. Another reason is that the Yankee ownership is one of the most well-heeled groups in baseball. They have the money to buy talent, and evidently, the inclination to do it.

Apparently, no expense was spared in that quest.

Several high echelon baseball sources close to the negotiations told The Associated Press that Hunter's attorneys were asking for a $1 million bonus, a salary of $200,000 a year for five years, attorneys' fees of $200,000, a 10-year retirement plan calling for $50,000 a year, a $1 million life insurance policy on himself and a $25,000 insurance policy on each of his two children. The sources said they believed the Yankees agreed to that package or something very close to it.

Hunter said that one or two other teams had flashed similar figures at him, and there was one club, believed to be the San Diego Padres, which offered more. But when it came to deciding time, Hunter said he chose New York because of Clyde Klutts and wanting to be a Yankee.

Surging Rangers Take Win Over Black Hawks

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer
During the early, trouble-marked stages of their National Hockey League season, a number of New York Rangers players expressed hopes of "putting it all together."

It would seem now, after four consecutive victories in which the Rangers outscored their opposition 25-8 and got good performances from all three lines, that that goal has been reached — at least temporarily.

"We have to keep going like this," said veteran right wing Rod Gilbert, who scored his 20th goal of the season in New York's 6-2 conquest of the Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the NHL, the California Golden Seals tied the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-3 and the Philadelphia Flyers blanked the Vancouver Canucks 2-0.

In the World Hockey Association, the Edmonton Oilers trimmed the San Diego Mariners 3-2 in overtime, the Quebec Nordiques topped the Indianapolis Racers 6-3 and the Minnesota Fighting Saints ripped the Cleveland Crusaders 6-2.

Rookies Rick Middleton and Ron Greshner scored second-period goals to start a four-goal outburst completed by Gilbert and Jean Ratelle against the Hawks.

Middleton gave the Rangers a 2-1 lead 3½ minutes into the middle period with his 15th goal of the season, a backhander over Tony Esposito's shoulder, then Greshner intercepted a Chicago pass and powered home his third of the year at 5:46.

That put the Rangers in command to stay, although the Black Hawks never really threatened.

"You can't do anything in goal if you don't get any help," said Chicago Coach Billy Reay after removing Esposito before the third period with New York in front 5-1.

And the Chicago defense, hurt already by the loss to injury of steady Bill White, was out in a further hole at 6:38 of the second period when Doug Jarrett complained about his interference penalty and was given a 10-minute misconduct by referee Bryan Lewis.

Steve Vickers and Ratelle assisted on linemate Gilbert's goal, giving the trio 82 points in the 16 games since Coach Emile Francis put them all together.

Flyers 2, Canucks 0
Bill Barber scored his 16th goal of the season with 3:44 remaining to break up a goal-tending battle, then Ross Lonsberry hit an empty net with 31 seconds left after the Canucks pulled goalie Gary Smith for an extra attacker.

Seals 3, Leafs 3
California goalie Gilles Meloche stopped 41 shots, including 18 in the final period, but Errol Thompson scored in the middle period to give Toronto a tie for the second time in the game.

Were you born before 1927? If so, you had a very limited diet as an infant. There was milk, of course. And your mother may have cooked some peas or carrots, and painstakingly squished them through a strainer. And that was about it.

In 1927, however, the first commercially prepared baby foods appeared on the market. And they really started something.

Mothers loved them for their convenience. Doctors recommended them for their nutritive values. And by 1936 the American Medical Association estimated that 18 per cent of all American infants were eating prepared baby foods.

Today they estimate 98 per cent! That's a lot of babies, because we have something like four million blessed events in this country every year. And that's a lot of food, because the average baby eats something like 1300 jars of it his first year! Multiply the babies by the jars and you have a $350 million market.

Moreover, today's baby needn't get bored with any one item. He has well over a hundred baby foods to choose from...the most popular of which, by far, is applesauce. And when he graduates from baby foods, he has quite an array of junior foods to choose from.

Needless to say, the free enterprise system knows a good thing when it sees it. So today's baby department can carry as many as a hundred nonfood items, such as baby scissors, brushes, booties, storybooks, and what have you.

Incidentally, not all strained foods are eaten by babies. Industry experts estimate that 7 per cent to 8-per-cent is consumed by adults.

Well, no matter why you want it, come into Jim Adams IGA any time...pick up a good supply...and be thankful it's not 1926!

FOR THURSDAY,
JANUARY 2, 1975

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

This is not a time to venture forth in search of "greener pastures." Stick to the tried and proven or some things could get out of hand. Watch the budget.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Do not be overly concerned with setbacks, opposition. Taken philosophically, they can be teachers, stabilizers. Perform in your innately befitting manner—and happily.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Harvests from present efforts should be substantial, but some may be delayed. Do not chafe; be extra patient. A good chance to display your ingenuity and know-how.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Lunar influences now suggest prudence, deliberating well before taking any action. Don't toss up a coin nor decide in a haphazard way as others may. Be painstaking.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Don't leave yourself open to needless criticism. Know what you must do and HOW to go about it. With others observing your example, you could be a potent leader.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Your competition will be keen now, yet there is plenty of room for your talents. Display them with discriminating taste. There are fine advantages in the offing.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Neither renege on promises nor attempt too much. Both extremes are likely now. Accept only what better sense recognizes will suit the day and good purpose.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mars, favorable, suggests that you put forth the very best efforts possible, but without overtaxing yourself. Just that one extra try may turn the tide for you.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Because you did not succeed before at what you believed a worthwhile endeavor does not mean you will not now—IF it is still worthwhile.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Matters may get off to a quick start in the a.m. Look carefully over your system, methods; try harder for surer satisfaction. The effort alone will reward.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Mixed planetary influences. Right plans and moves at the right times and places will keep you in the lead for gains, with ease of effort.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Good Neptune influences favor normal routine, as well as the launching of new enterprises. Deliberate, then act. Try a master stroke.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with talents and characteristics suited to a wide variety of occupations. You intuitively know the right move at the crucial moment, can say much in terse, concise speech, getting right to the core of a matter. Your integrity, practicality and meticulousness are outstanding and you will stand by your principles to the death. In short, you are a pretty substantial citizen. That is, of course, if living up to your better side. The undeveloped Capricornian can be moody, secretive, envious and lethargic, subject to a pessimism which impedes his best efforts. Watch for these tendencies, therefore and, at the first sign of their appearance, make heroic effort to conquer them.

Preliminary Wild Rivers Plan Is Presented Recently

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Obtaining easement rights to land surrounding the state's eight wild rivers would be the most practical approach to preserving them, although acquisition of the land would provide better protection, according to a preliminary report of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Bob Nickel, chief of the department's office of planning and research, presented the preliminary plan for the protection and management of the wild rivers at a recent meeting of the Environmental Quality Commission in Frankfort. The advisory commission to the environmental protection department will review a second draft at its January meeting. According to Nickel, the main purpose of the plan is to protect and preserve the wild rivers and their adjacent areas. A second aim is to provide an enjoyable and educational means for public use of these areas. However, said Nickel, public use must not be harmful to the wild rivers areas.

In 1972, Kentucky's legislature selected parts of five rivers—Cumberland, Red, Rockcastle, Green and Big South Fork of the Cumberland—for protection under the Wild Rivers Act. The wild-rivers system was supplemented in 1974 with the addition of portions of the Little South Fork of the Cumberland River, Rock and Martins Fork Creeks. The rivers were selected for their primitive character.

The state environmental protection agency was directed to develop and carry out a plan for the wild rivers system which would preserve the primitive character of the streams and would provide wilderness recreation in a true river environment.

According to Nickel, the Wild Rivers Act set out some requirements for management of the system, made some recommendations and left the rest up to the department. Basically, said Nickel, the problem boiled down to deciding how primitive the areas should be and how much money should or could be spent to keep them that way.

"The law allows us," said Nickel, "to add certain conveniences such as foot trails, horse trails, camp sites and comfort stations, depending on how primitive you want to be. It's also up to us to decide how to protect the land—by obtaining easements, by agreements with federal agencies or by purchasing clear title to the land." An easement is a contract through which a land owner relinquishes a portion of his rights to his land.

"In an effort to find out what the public wanted us to do," Nickel said, "we distributed about 2,000 questionnaires on the subject to civic groups and the general public. This wasn't a popularity contest, but we wanted some guidelines as to what people wanted."

He went on to explain that the result of the 300 returns showed no clear-out preference. "It seems," Nickel said, "there is a large difference of opinion among the general public."

The preliminary management plan recommends reliance on state-federal agreements to protect the wild rivers where possible. "About 60 per cent of the system is under federal domain. We are recommending protection by agreements with the federal agencies in these areas."

"About 40 per cent of the land surrounding the wild rivers areas," continued Nickel, "is owned by private citizens whose rights must be respected. We specify that these private landowners are prime considerations."

The report said acquisition of the private lands would offer the best protection. But, explained Nickel, buying title to the surface land would cost millions of dollars and the mineral rights would cost millions more. The report recommends procurement of scenic easements as the most practical approach.

"In addition to general recommendation for the overall administration of the program," said Nickel, "the department suggests that specific recommendations be made for each individual wild river. These specific plans will spell out the best procedure for each wild river. They will determine how wild each river will be. If this course is followed, a public hearing will be held on the management plan for each wild river."

Ordinary Citizens Pass Judgment

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Now they stood branded as criminals.

The grand jury had charged, the government had prosecuted. But it took 12 ordinary people to pass judgment on John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and Robert C. Mardian.

A domestic counter girl, a hotel doorman, a retired cop, a pharmacist's assistant. Plus eight others similarly plucked from Washington's voter rolls to weigh the guilt or innocence of men who helped run a nation.

Case No. 74-110, The Watergate cover-up trial.

"Mr. Foreman, has the jury agreed upon a verdict," asked James Capitanio, the court clerk, a dignified man with the bearing of a career civil servant.

"Yes, they have," said foreman John A. Hoffer. His face was ashen, his voice trembled, his hands shook.

The clock on the wall read 4:48 p.m. It had been three months to the day since the jury selection began.

It was the first day of the year after the year that had seen Richard M. Nixon resign the presidency in the scandal that now brought his most trusted aides to be judged.

A manila envelope, colored government-beige, changes hands. Hoffer to Capitanio. Capitanio to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The tension in the crowded courtroom is unbelievable.

As the judge looks over five verdict forms, four women in the front spectator rows hold their breath. Jeanne Ehrlichman, Jo Haldeman, Pamela Parkinson and Dorothy Mardian. The best-known of the wives, Martha Mitchell is not there. She long ago separated from husband John.

The envelope is passed back to Capitanio. "The clerk will now read the verdict," Sirica says. The clock reads 4:50.

"Will all the defendants please stand," says Capitanio. They rise, facing the judge. Suddenly no one is conscious of the cold in Courtroom No. 2, the only one in use on this holiday.

As to defendant John N. Mitchell, count one, guilty; count two, guilty; count four, guilty; count five, guilty; count six, guilty. "Capitanio reads, omitting a charge dropped by the judge.

Mitchell, who had been the universally feared boss of the Justice Department, the country's chief lawman, flushed crimson, but his expression didn't change.

"As to defendant Harry R. Haldeman, guilty ... guilty ... guilty ... guilty ... guilty."

Haldeman, cold-eyed, once able to bar the highest of government officials from an audience with Nixon, the presidential confidant, the self-described "Nixon's S.O.B.," who once spoke of running a "zero-defects system" in the White House.

"As to defendant John D. Ehrlichman ... Guilty. Four counts.

Ehrlichman, who had cried on the witness stand when he recalled the day Nixon asked him to resign as domestic counselor, but accused the former president all the same of misleading him. Hands clasped behind his back, Ehrlichman sagged a little as he was convicted in his second trial.

"As to defendant Robert C. Mardian ... Guilty. One count.

Mardian, who had run the internal security division of the justice department before going to Nixon's re-election committee as a political coordinator. A bitter smile froze on his face.

Then: "As to defendant Kenneth Parkinson. Count one, not guilty; count two, not guilty.

Parkinson beamed. Mitchell smiled and whispered "Great, Ken," Pamela Parkinson sup-

Holiday Toll Listed As 162

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents across the nation claimed 162 lives during the New Year's holiday.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 170 and 230 persons would be killed in the 30-hour period from 6 p.m. local time Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

During the four-day New Year's weekend a year ago, 560 persons died in traffic. The toll a week ago for the 30-hour Christmas holiday period was 204.

pressed tears.

It had taken two minutes to drop the curtain on another act in the Watergate drama.

The judge addressed the jurors, thanking them for their service. It had been more than 11 weeks for them of nights without families, organized weekends, the burden of living with the solemn task they knew they would eventually have to shoulder.

As the judge spoke, there was an audible raspberry from the front row of spectators. It was Mrs. Mardian.

The clock on the wall read 5 p.m. The Watergate trial was over and men who had enjoyed power bestowed by Richard Nixon walked from the courtroom as felons.

Sales On Beef, Leveling Of Sugar Prices, Brings Bonus

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Sales on beef and a leveling off of sugar prices brought a year-end bonus to shoppers trying to hold down the family grocery bill, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973, at a supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked each succeeding month.

The survey showed that the bill went down during December in seven cities and up in six. The average decline was 3 per cent; the average increase was 2 per cent. Overall, the bill decreased an average of seven-tenths of 1 per cent during the last month of 1974.

In November, the bill was up in 12 cities, boosted by sugar price increases and rising an average of 6 per cent.

The total marketbasket bill was up in every city over the 12-month period that ended in December 1974, rising an average of 20 per cent, primarily because of increases in the price of sugar. Peanut butter went up in all 13 cities over the year, reflecting the rising costs of oil; detergent also was up in every city and so were chocolate chip cookies.

The December declines were due mainly to sales on beef that reflected record supplies of cattle coming to market. All-beef frankfurters declined in 10 cities during December, down an average of 14 per cent, and increased in only two, up an average 5 per cent. The price was unchanged in the 13th city.

A comparison of current prices with those at the end of 1973 showed that all-beef franks were lower now in 11 cities, with a 29 per cent average decline.

Chopped chuck declined in four cities during December and in nine cities was lower at the end of 1974 than it was a year earlier. Several other items also are cheaper now: butter went down in 11 cities during the 12-month period and eggs declined in 12 cities over the year.

The lower meat prices aren't likely to last, however. Although there is more beef available than ever before, pork production is declining and the smaller supplies will push prices up again in 1975.

Sugar prices showed some sign of easing during December, according to the AP survey. The price of sugar actually declined in five cities, down an average of 7 per cent. The price was unchanged in five cities, up in two and unchanged in one.

Over the year, however, the price of a five-pound sack of granulated sugar was up in every city, with the increase averaging 258 per cent as retailers raced to keep up with higher wholesale prices. The price generally went from about 85 cents for five pounds of sugar to $2.75 or more, but recent declines in wholesale prices have offered some hope of relief.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M.; Atlanta, Ga.; Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City, Utah, and Seattle, Wash.

Ford Faces Major Decisions On Return To Nation's Capitol

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford is returning to Washington after his skiing vacation facing major decisions on the nation's sagging economy and energy problems.

On New Year's Day, Ford signed a privacy act aimed at safeguarding citizens from misuse of federal records and named Housing Secretary James T. Lynn to replace Roy L. Ash as director of the Office of Management and Budget. He remained silent on the domestic spying controversy involving the CIA.

The President was scheduled to leave this Rocky Mountain ski resort at midmorning today and travel by car and helicopter to Grand Junction, Colo., to board Air Force One for the 3½-hour flight to Washington.

"I'm looking forward to getting back to a full day's work, but I'll feel better, do better and work harder," Ford said Wednesday after his final skiing on 11,250-foot Vail Mountain.

Ford flew in his top economic and energy advisers for meetings during his 12-day skiing and working vacation. Press Secretary Ron Nessen said final decisions on the administration's approach to the problems would be made after Ford's return to the capital. Another session of the economic advisers was set for Saturday in Washington.

After reports that the Central Intelligence Agency had illegally conducted spying operations in the United States, the President called for a report from Intelligence Director William C. Colby.

Ford said he had read the Colby report, but has refused comment on it. Nessen said the President may make a public statement about the report next week.

On Wednesday, Ford pocket vetoed a bill to increase the travel money allowance for government employees and signed a bill calling for research and development of new energy sources. The veto was Ford's 21st since he took office.

On the privacy act, Ford said, "This bill for the most part, strikes a reasonable balance between the right of the individual to be left alone and the interest of society in open government, national defense, foreign policy, law enforcement and a high quality and trustworthy federal work force."

The measure gives individuals the right to have access to information on file about them and to have inaccurate items corrected. Exceptions are provided for law enforcement files and other sensitive records.

The President has 92 bills passed by the 93rd Congress upon which he must act by the end of the week.

Gold Prices Continue Downward Trend Today

By The Associated Press
Gold sales that got off to a limping start Tuesday resumed today as the price of gold continued to drop on the London market.

The prefiring price of $184 an ounce was down $2.50 from the closing price of $186.50 on Tuesday, and more than $11 down from last Friday's record prices. In morning trading, the fixing price edged upward slightly to $185 an ounce.

The lack of American interest in buying bullion was blamed for the drop in gold prices on the London market.

Europe's other major gold market, in Zurich, was still closed today for the New Year holiday.

For the first time in 41 years, Americans were able to purchase gold Tuesday — at more than $200 an ounce. Opening day sales were far from sparkling.

"Thursday's demand could be 10 times what Tuesday's was and it would still be far smaller than anticipated," said Thomas W. Wolfe, head of the Treasury's Office of Domestic Gold and Silver Operations.

Wolfe said Tuesday's sales showed demand to be "extremely slow and almost nonexistent." Many banks and brokers, however, decided to delay their first offering until today. The Treasury Department will offer two million ounces for auction Monday.

The price of gold on European markets had soared in recent weeks, partly in anticipation of the expected American sales. But the market peaked several days before the first day's sales. The London price Tuesday fell to $186.50 per troy ounce — 1.097 regular ounces.

With various brokers' fees and commissions added, this meant that the price to the consumer ran over $200 an ounce.

The amazing Amazon River

The flow of the Amazon River, the largest river in the world, accounts for about 15 per cent of all the fresh water discharged into the oceans by all the rivers of the world.

By comparison, the Amazon's flow is over four times that of the Congo River, the world's second largest river, and 10 times that of the Mississippi, the largest river on the North American continent.

Guilty Verdicts Returned In Trial

American political life for the past two years.

President Ford declined to comment on the verdict.

There was no immediate comment from Nixon, who has lived at San Clemente, Calif. in seclusion since he was forced to resign the presidency last Aug. 8, less than two years after the 1972 presidential election in which he won re-election by one of the largest landslides in history.

But the Watergate scandal, which at first seemed to have so little effect on that election, developed a landslide of its own which eventually swamped Nixon and many of the men who wielded vast power while he was in the White House.

The cover-up trial jury deliberated nearly 15 hours over three days before they notified Sirica at 4:25 p. m. Wednesday that they had reached a verdict.

Since former White House Counsel John W. Dean III took the oath on Oct. 16, as the lead-off prosecution witness, the jurors heard testimony from more than 80 witnesses and listened to 30 tapes, including 28 conversations between Nixon and his aides.

Although Nixon, who has been in ill health since his resignation, never appeared in court, either as defendant or witness, his tape-recorded voice was heard repeatedly.

Ehrlichman subpoenaed Nixon to testify as a defense witness. But Sirica dismissed the subpoena after three court-appointed doctors examined the former president and reported that the earliest he might be able to give a deposition would be Jan. 6.

In his instructions to the jury on Monday, Sirica directed the nine women and three men to render their verdict without regard to the pardon Ford granted Nixon.

A member of the jury, who asked not to be identified, said the pardon never was discussed.

The juror called the tapes a key factor in the verdict.

The juror said that the tapes, "It's too bad you can't have tapes in every trial. It's hard to argue with the tapes."

The members of the jury, eight blacks and four whites with two registered Republicans including foreman John A. Hoffar, a retired U.S. Park Service police sergeant, filed into Courtroom No. 2 at 4:47 p. m.

The defendants and their lawyers had been summoned from the cluster of small rooms where they had office space throughout the long trial.

They waited, tense and expectant, for about 20 minutes before Sirica entered, followed a minute later by the jury.

Mitchell's name led the list of defendants on the indictment.

"As to defendant Mitchell," read James Capitanio, the clerk, "Count one, guilty; count two, guilty; count four, guilty; count five, guilty; count six, guilty." The third count had been dismissed by the judge.

Mitchell flushed slightly, then turned to his lawyer, William G. Hundley and whispered, "Don't take it too hard."

Count one charged all five defendants with conspiracy to obstruct justice. Count two charged all but Mardian with obstruction of justice. The remaining counts were perjury charges against Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

Fifteen times Capitanio intoned, "guilty," before he came to the fifth defendant, Parkinson, and on both counts said, "not guilty."

Mitchell smiled and said, "Great, Ken."

Thus, the cover-up trial ended in the same courtroom and before the judge who heard, nearly two years earlier, the trial of seven men charged with burglary, conspiracy and wiretapping in connection with the June 17, 1972, Watergate break-in.

It was Sirica's skepticism in that first trial that received much of the credit for spurring the continued investigation that unraveled the cover-up.

tant of all.

"It's hard to argue with the tapes," said the member of the panel. "It's too bad we couldn't have tapes at every trial."

The juror said a significant number of jurors felt at the beginning of the trial that it was unfair for Nixon to have received a pardon while his top aides, H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John N. Mitchell stood trial.

But Sirica instructed the jury not to consider the pardon in their deliberations.

"We realized that this (the pardon) shouldn't affect the verdict," said the panel member. "We tried to do what the judge said."

The pardon was not discussed during final deliberations.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell were convicted.

Of the other defendant who was convicted, Robert C. Mardian, a staff official of the 1972 Nixon re-election committee, the juror said, "This was a confused situation. He tried to quit (the cover-up) two or three times. He just didn't get out in time, that's all."

Seeing the reaction of the defendants' families to the verdict "really broke me up. We did what we had to do," the juror said.

Of one thing, the panel member said, everyone agreed. "All the jurors were pleased with Judge Sirica."

His assailant, who used a .38-caliber pistol, fled the immediate vicinity on foot, police said, and robbery apparently was not the motive for the shooting.

Wood was pronounced dead on arrival Tuesday night at Jenny Stuart Hospital.

Funeral services will be held Friday at two p. m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. R. J. Burpoe officiating.

The body was then taken to Hodgenville for burial in the Pearl Webb Cemetery there.

Survivors include three nieces, Mrs. Lillian Sowell, Mrs. Bethel Church, and Mrs. Monola Lehmkuhle, all of St. Louis, Mo.; three nephews, Elmo Parker, Lamont Parker, and Raymond Hensley.

Graveside services will be held Saturday at two p. m. at the Hicks Cemetery in Calloway County with the arrangements by the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home where friends may call after six p. m. on Friday.

The Kutis Funeral Home of St. Louis, Mo., is in charge of services there.

KROGER PRICE FREEZE

We Guarantee:
No Price Increase on
over 1100 items, until
February 1st,
1975

We're as tired of rising food costs as you are. When we pay more for merchandise we have to charge more. So, we have purchased more than 1100 items in quantities large enough to ensure price stability until February 1, 1975. We're doing everything we can to hold all of your food costs as low as possible. So, look for the blue "KROGER PRICE FREEZE" shelf markers on the items at your nearby Kroger food store and start saving today.

Whip Inflation NOW!

... and WIN!

From time to time, we here at Kroger will be bringing you some suggestions to help you shop more wisely and to get full value for your food dollar. Let's start with a few basic rules for wise shopping:

.. Plan the week's menu before you start your shopping trip and make up a list. But be flexible enough to take advantage of store specials and other bargains.

.. Read the grocery ads. Shop the specials (they're often sold at or below wholesale cost).

.. Read the label. Ingredients, for example, are listed in order of quantity. Does the canned beef stew list beef or potatoes first? And now that nutrition labeling is appearing on more and more products, you also can see at a glance just how much nutrition you're buying.

.. Buy to suit your needs and use what you buy. If you live alone, the smallest size may be your best buy. (Or freeze the extra portions of a larger size.) If you're a big family, you'll always save at Kroger with the larger can or box... it's a company policy.

.. Buying store brands is the fastest way to cut food costs without sacrificing quality. Equal to the most popular brands, yet they cost less. And at Kroger, they're unconditionally guaranteed on a replacement or money-back basis.
